LIFE DAY EVENTS

Daytime wellness, culture, and creativity — live, every weekday.

LifeDay Events run Monday through Friday from 10:00 AM to 3:00 PM and feature interactive experiences designed to nourish the mind, body, and spirit. Each day brings a new focus — from yoga and sound healing to food tastings, emotional wellness, entrepreneurship, and celebration. Powered by Harlem’s Black-owned businesses, healers, and creatives, these daytime gatherings are open to the public with accessible pricing and rotating themes.

1. The Morning Show NYC

The only live-taped daily broadcast from Harlem.

Weekday mornings start here — with affirmations, headlines, culture, and joy. Shot live from the studio, this show brings Harlem’s energy to your morning routine with music, interviews, and feel-good momentum to set the tone for your day.\

2. Luxe Travel

Luxury, culture, and elegance — all Black-owned.

A high-gloss travel series that spotlights the finest Black-owned luxury restaurants, boutiques, and hidden gems across the world. From rooftop dining in Johannesburg to spa getaways in the Caribbean, this show redefines luxury through a Black lens.

3. Single in the City

A soulful cooking show for one — and for anyone learning to love their own company.

Based on the Single in the City cookbook, this show turns solo cooking into a self-love ritual. Each episode features culturally rich, single-serving recipes — with stories, style, and seasoning. It’s not just food for one — it’s freedom on a plate.

4. Discover World Cuisine

Global flavor. Harlem soul.

Travel the world without leaving the kitchen. This culinary series dives into international cuisines — from Senegalese jollof to Thai street noodles — connecting food to history, culture, and celebration

5. Color of Music

Gospel roots, global resonance.

A Sunday morning concert series filmed live in studio, celebrating the rich, diasporic traditions of gospel music. Featuring iconic guests like Melvin Crispell III, Lemmy Battles, Joshua’s Troupe, Angela Spivey, Christopher Brent and the Ensemble, Dave Hollister, and Dwayne Woods — this series is both worship and witness.

PODCAST SHOW TAPING SCHEDULE

Come be part of the show — live studio audience welcome.
Every evening from 7:00 PM to 10:00 PM, Harlem Collective opens its studio doors for live tapings of our podcast lineup.
This is your chance to witness your favorite shows in real-time, ask questions during audience talkbacks, and experience the behind-the-scenes magic. Seating is limited. Arrive early — doors open at 6:30 PM.

Podcast Lineup

1. Dear Mom, I’m Gay
A brave, beautiful space for Black gay men to tell the truth. Each episode features real conversations with men who share the moment they came out to their mothers — the heartbreak, the healing, the humor, and the hope. Vulnerable, powerful, and necessary.

2. Black Wall Street: The Revival
Wealth. Wisdom. The real cost of freedom. This show reclaims the legacy of Black Wall Street while addressing modern economic survival. Featuring entrepreneurs, investors, and community builders rewriting the rules of Black prosperity.

3. Motherland: The Truth
What they never taught us about Africa. Part genealogy journey, part myth-busting history, this podcast uncovers the real roots of our people, our rituals, and our resistance. Hosted by cultural scholars, healers, and curious truth-seekers.

4. Inside the Opera House
Where Black voices take center stage. Go behind the curtain with celebrated opera singers, conductors, and creators who are transforming classical music. Hear the stories of triumph, training, and tradition that shaped them.

5. The Color of Music
Soundtrack of the diaspora. An audio docu-series exploring the history, sound, and social impact of Black music — from gospel to go-go, soul to street anthems. Featuring rare recordings, commentary, and artist interviews.

6. Collected
Stories that hold us together. Part memoir, part cultural archive, this narrative podcast shares true stories from Harlem residents and guests — weaving together memory, identity, and transformation.
